6th International Conference on “Innovative Trends in Multidisciplinary Academic Research” (ITMAR - 2019) serves as a platform that aims to help the scholarly community across nations to explore the critical role of multidisciplinary innovations for sustainability and growth of human societies. This conference provides an opportunity to the academicians, practitioners, scientists, and scholars from across various disciplines to discuss avenues for interdisciplinary innovations and identify effective ways to address the regional and global challenges faced by our societies. The research ideas and studies that we received for this conference are very promising, unique, and impactful. I believe these studies have the potential to address key challenges in various sub-domains of social sciences and applied sciences. The scholars attending this conference will certainly find it helpful in refining their own research ideas, finding solutions to basic/applied problems they face, and interacting with other renowned scholars for possible future collaborations.

I am really thankful to our honorable scientific and review committee for spending much of their time in reviewing the papers for this event, selecting the best paper awards, and helping the participants in publishing their research in affiliated journals.

Also, special thanks to all the session chairs from industry, academia, and policy-making institutions who volunteered their time and support to make this event a success.

A very special thanks to the great scholars for being here with us as keynote speakers. Their valuable thoughts will surely open the horizon of new research and practice for the conference participants coming from across the globe. I am also thankful to all the participants for being here with us to create an environment of knowledge sharing and learning. We, the scholars of this world, belong to the elite educated class of this society, and we owe a lot to return to this society. Let's break all the discriminating barriers and get free from all minor affiliations. Let's contribute even a little or single step to the betterment of society and the welfare of humanity to bring prosperity, peace, and harmony in this world. Stay blessed.

Types of ITMAR Papers

For this year, ITMAR has two types of papers: Empirical Studies and Insight. Research papers meet the needs of researchers and are reviewed on the basis of highest academic standards. The objective of the academic paper is to contribute to the scientific body of knowledge. On the contrary, Insight papers meet the needs of policymakers and professionals and are reviewed on the basis of high practice standards. The objective of the Insight is to identify real-world problems and how they can be solved with the help of information systems.

Reviewing Criteria

In ITMAR, all papers are judged on the same criteria (relevance, significance, originality, validity, and clarity). However, some criteria differ between the Research papers and Insight papers.

Relevance: Relevance has a great impact on the theme of the conference. The material is relevant and according to the theme of the conference.

Significance: Knowledge of different researches in the conference is related to research papers and insight papers.

Originality: Ideas that are new for the researchers are used in the conference.

Validity: Research papers in the conference are based on theory, while the insight papers in the research are based on experimental researches. References are according to content.

Clarity: Papers are according to the format; language is easy and understandable by the audience in the conference.

ITMAR 2019 Workshop

“How to Improve the Quality of A Research Article and Get It Published in Scopus/ISI-Indexed Journals.”

Trainer: Dr. Tariq Iqbal Khan (Ph.D.)

In this workshop, we will discuss how to improve the quality of a research article and to get it published in good quality journals. Publication is considered as a KPI achievement for academic staff. It is considered to be the best way to enjoy benefits and promotion as a faculty member. In this workshop, trainer will shed light on how to identify a hot research topic, how to find a research gap, importance of a catchy Research Paper Title, what reviewers are looking for in a research article, what editors are expecting from authors, reasons for article rejection by good journals, steps and tips to improve article quality and content, and finding a relevant outlet for your research. I hope this workshop will help the participants improve their understanding of the publication process.

Roots Tourism: A Sustainable Opportunity?

Sonia Ferrari¹, Gilda Hernandez-Maskivker^{2*}, Tiziana Nicotera³

^{1,3} University of Calabria, Italy

² Ramón Llull University, Spain

Abstract

Roots Tourism (RT) is a segment of heritage tourism that is growing very fast in the last decades. It includes different forms of vacations by people who are part of ethnic groups or communities afflicted in the past by large outgoing migration that want to know their homelands of origin visiting them during their holidays. The aim of the study is to explore how RT can contribute to a more sustainable development of the destinations, focusing on its socio-cultural impact. The authors carried out qualitative research, analysing RT from the tourists' point of view. They interviewed 40 roots tourists that visited Calabria, Italy. The findings of the research show that RT could help to promote and strengthen the identity, culture and lifestyle of the host community. This type of sustainable tourism development could indeed become a tool to empower host communities by enhancing local identity, cultural values, integrity, and the quality of life. This paper makes an effort to fill a significant gap in the literature regarding the various impacts of RT's development on local socio-cultural fabric, in order to evaluate them jointly in terms of sustainability.

Abstract

Mass tourism is growing uncontrolled in many destinations worldwide. Negative impacts emerge from it, transforming the city and influencing on locals' lifestyle and well-being. However, debates and contradictions emerge on those negatives consequences and the real impact on communities. From that, a deeper analysis on this issue is needed to understand how people perceive tourism and its effects. A quantitative study was conducted in two mature destinations in Spain: Barcelona and Sevilla. One of the major findings from this research is the importance of locals' support to manage tourism. Practical and managerial implications are suggested in order to promote a more sustainable and participative development of destinations.

Universitas Islam Indonesia, Indonesia

Abstract

Biologically transexual are men, but psychologically they consider themselves as women. This causes confusion in daily life, especially in matters of worship. Some transexual, who don't know yet their position in Islamic law, conduct worship with man or woman status. Same case happens in transexual of al Fatah Islamic boarding school which was established in 2008 at Kotagede, Yogyakarta. Giving religion education for transexual, this Islamic boarding school that leads to pro and contra in this society. It becomes an interesting learning in area of Islamic boarding school culture. This research explores how far the development of Islamic boarding school influences the paradigm of transexual students in the meaning of ritual worship and ma'ruf concepts in their daily life. This research also describes the study of fiqh worship among the transexual who learned in Islamic boarding school. This study is conducted through interviews and critical analysis using descriptive approaches. It is to obtain a description on the concept of worship obedience and believed that has been applied by transexual students in Islamic boarding school. ^{1,2,3,4} University of St. La Salle, Philippines

Abstract

This is a descriptive study aimed to describe the adjustment concerns and coping strategies of international students enrolled in the university. There are 19 students who were purposively identified as participants for the social survey and 15 students for Focus Group Discussion. In general, data revealed that participants report having extreme difficulty with their relationship with God/divine being, as well as in handling their personal relationship problems. More specifically, participants reported having slight difficulty adjusting to teaching strategies, dealing with new professors. Participants reported having experienced moderate difficulty in establishing closer relationship with God, getting to social activities, making themselves understood by others, and in their feeling alone in college. The study also revealed that participants are coping positively with their adjustment concerns. Findings lend support to the university's thrusts on inclusive education and internationalization program. The reported adjustment concerns are affirming of their vulnerability to succumb to multiple-issues harmful to their total wellness while they are in their transitional stage. The difficulties they experienced in their academic pursuit are context for teachers to revisit, continually upgrade classroom instructions as well as to be mindfully sensitive and respecting of the students' multi-cultural backgrounds, as well as for administrators' attention to sustain provision of essential support and resources so as to respond to the variant needs of the international students. The study recommends actions that may insure international student's ability to overcome challenges and thereby flourish psychologically and socio-culturally in their new environment.
